

NEXORA INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY

Placements

1. Placement Cell

The Training and Placement Cell coordinates recruitment drives, career training, aptitude sessions, technical preparation, and communication with participating employers.

2. General Eligibility

A student may participate in a recruitment drive when the student satisfies that employer's published criteria. Criteria can include CGPA, backlogs, branch, graduation year, attendance, and required technical skills.

3. Registration

Students should register through the placement portal before the deadline stated in the recruitment notice.

4. Recruitment Process

A typical recruitment process may include application screening, aptitude assessment, technical interview, HR interview, group discussion where applicable, and final selection. The exact process depends on the employer.

5. Training

The placement cell may organize resume-building workshops, mock interviews, aptitude practice, coding sessions, communication training, and industry interaction programs.

6. Placement Discipline

Students participating in recruitment activities must follow the instructions and deadlines provided by the placement cell and the recruiting organization.
